Programme overview

Background

Artificial intelligence is reshaping how investors discover, evaluate, and form opinions about listed companies. Analysts, institutional investors, and an increasing share of retail shareholders now use ChatGPT, Perplexity, and Google Gemini as a first filter before engaging with traditional IR materials. The equity story is no longer simply read — it is compiled into probabilistic answers by large language models.

A second shift is now underway: AI agents. Autonomous systems and a growing class of finance-tuned copilots no longer just answer questions — they act. They screen portfolios, compile due diligence, draft analyst memos, and monitor sentiment continuously. For IR teams, this means a third intermediary has entered the relationship with investors — one without a meeting request, a roadshow slot, or any existing communication channel.

Generative Engine Optimization (GEO) is the emerging discipline that addresses this shift. It equips IR professionals with the frameworks, tools, and content strategies to ensure that AI-generated answers about their company are accurate, complete, and aligned with the disclosed equity story.

Course Agenda

15 September 2026 | 9:30 – 13:30 CEST

Part I · Generative Engine Optimisation (GEO) Essentials

9:25 - Registration

9:30 - What Does AI Say About You?

- Live queries to ChatGPT, Perplexity and Gemini on example listed companies
- What is right, what is wrong, what is missing
- The three framing questions: why AI barely mentions us though we rank; who shapes the equity story when we do not; what we can do about it

9:40 · Module 1 — The Paradigm Shift

- From the Traffic Economy to the Reputation Economy
- Search machine → answer machine; the zero-click curve
- DACH, EU and global adoption data
- IR bridge: AI is now the first reader of every disclosure
- Share reputation increasingly forms in a machine-mediated layer
- Three question types driving AI-mediated investor perception: company-specific, peer-comparative, thematic

Interaction 1 Live test — "What does [your company] do and what is it known for?" across several systems at once.

10:05 · Module 2 — How AI Actually Thinks

- The LLM process in four steps (Fraunhofer model)
- RAG vs parametric knowledge — the two routes into an answer
- Vector embeddings: from keyword match to semantic meaning
- Entity thinking: AI builds entity profiles, not link collections
- Query fan-out and the grounding logic that decides which sources are cited

10:35 · Module 3 — Reputation in the AI Era & Resilient Signaling

- Why communications is structurally advantaged in the Reputation Economy
- Three reputation layers, reframed for IR: Equity Story, Evidence, Ambient
- The AI vacuum: what you do not shape, the machine fills from elsewhere
- Centrepiece — the Resilient Signaling matrix: Signal Breadth × Signal Intensity

Interaction 2 Live poll — "Where does your company sit on the matrix?"

11:10 Coffee break

Part II · How IR Can Apply GEO

11:25 · Module 4 — The New Arena of Share Reputation

- The interpretation layer, where share reputation is now formed
- Agentic AI as the third intermediary in the investor relationship — no meeting request, no existing channel
- The asymmetry problem: an AI-native buy-side against a static IR function
- Four mechanisms of shadow judgement: tone classification & negative bias; risk extraction; cross-quarter inconsistency detection; weak-language penalisation
- Narrative drift is capital drift: HTML cited 3.05× more than PDF; 71% vs 54% accuracy

12:10 · Module 5 — Engineering for Both Layers

- Technical foundation: structured data, semantic HTML, schema markup, JSON-LD
- Access control for machines: robots.txt and llms.txt
- Content for GEO: chunk logic, investor FAQs as machine-readable blocks, six quality criteria
- Interpretation engineering: a canonical facts layer with versioned KPI definitions
- Consistency enforcement across channels; machine-readability design; the IR Data API trajectory; AI-awareness and provenance (C2PA)
- Evidence layer: filings, ESEF/iXBRL, transcripts as GEO signals
- Regulation as design principle: optimise disclosed information

12:45 · Module 6 — Measuring & Steering

- New metrics: e.g. Share of Visibility, Sentiment, Position, citation/source share
- How IR KPIs differ from marketing & comms KPIs
- The tool landscape in tiers
- The Vulnerability Map as the IR review instrument before each reporting cycle

Interaction 3 GEO self-test — live, across systems.

13:15 · Closing — From Storytelling to Design

- The 30/90/∞ roadmap, reframed to the reporting-cycle cadence
- Effort-versus-impact prioritisation
- Who owns interpretation engineering across IR, communications and governance?
- Five takeaways: AI is the first reader; interpretation is the new battlefield; share reputation is shaped at scale; IR evolves from storytelling to design; governance follows the same logic

13:30 · End of programme

Expert:

Martin Regnet, Senior expert and strategist for digital corporate and financial communications
